NICE NETWORK

Since 1989, NICE Network has been helping the insurance claims industry evaluate high value electronic equipment losses.

Our primary objective is to provide adjusters a nationwide professional resource. By working with insureds, their vendors and other technical specialists, NICE Network provides a practical and cost effective service for mitigating the loss and verifying the damages. Proactive and objective evaluations that earn customer trust.

NICE Network offers training seminars that provide adjusters with proven guidelines for evaluating electronic equipment claims.

If you would like to arrange a seminar at your location, request additional literature or for prompt response to new loss assignments, please contact us or visit our website.
